

Runaway Car Hits Boy's Dad

A garage-cleaning session ended in near-tragedy for a Torrance family Monday night.

Gregory Stinson was driving the family car back into the garage after the clean-up when the accelerator apparently jammed, police reports indicate.

The car plunged forward, pushing the youth's father against a workbench.

Taken to Riviera Community Hospital for a 24-hour observation period was Nelson M. Stinson, 45, of 2709 Ridgeland Ave. Ice packs were administered to his back, although x-rays indicated that no bones were broken.

Army Pvt. Glen N. Hark, 20, son of Mrs. Cynthia E. Hark, 3316 Winlock Road, has been assigned as a heavy-equipment mechanic in the 632nd Heavy Equipment Maintenance Company near Long Binh, Vietnam.

INSPECT WORK . . . Supervisor Kenneth Hahn (left) inspects improvements now under construction on Carson Street between the Harbor Freeway and Orrick Avenue. The work is scheduled to be completed in about 90 days, construction officials told Hahn. With Hahn is Al Salisbury, construction foreman. The project was delayed because of difficulties over the relocation of water lines by the Dominguez Water Co., Hahn pointed out.

Seek Bids On Freeway Generator

Capitol News Service
SACRAMENTO—If you've been driving home on a freeway in a big rainstorm and found the underpass blocked by water, you'll be interested in a bid for which the state Division of Highways has called. The division called for bids for converting an existing stationary generator on the Harbor Freeway at Carson Street, east of Torrance, into the state's first trailer-mounted generator to service pumping plants on depressed freeways in the Los Angeles basin during periods of power failure.

Under the project, a generator would be installed in a house on Route 91 in Orange County, at the North Olive underpass, and a trailer-mounted generator installed. Bids will be opened in Los Angeles Feb. 15, with $67,000 available for the project.
